

AP Government & Politics: Comparative 1999 Free-Response Questions

The materials included in these files are intended for non-commercial use by AP teachers for course and exam preparation; permission for any other use must be sought from the Advanced Placement Program. Teachers may reproduce them, in whole or in part, in limited quantities, for face-to-face teaching purposes but may not mass distribute the materials, electronically or otherwise. These materials and any copies made of them may not be resold, and the copyright notices must be retained as they appear here. This permission does not apply to any third-party copyrights contained herein.

These materials were produced by Educational Testing Service (ETS), which develops and administers the examinations of the Advanced Placement Program for the College Board. The College Board and Educational Testing Service (ETS) are dedicated to the principle of equal opportunity, and their programs, services, and employment policies are guided by that principle.

The College Board is a national nonprofit membership association dedicated to preparing, inspiring, and connecting students to college and opportunity. Founded in 1900, the association is composed of more than 3,900 schools, colleges, universities, and other educational organizations. Each year, the College Board serves over three million students and their parents, 22,000 high schools, and 3,500 colleges, through major programs and services in college admission, guidance, assessment, financial aid, enrollment, and teaching and learning. Among its best-known programs are the SAT®, the PSAT/NMSQT™, the Advanced Placement Program® (AP®), and Pacesetter®. The College Board is committed to the principles of equity and excellence, and that commitment is embodied in all of its programs, services, activities, and concerns.

Copyright © 2001 by College Entrance Examination Board. All rights reserved. College Board, Advanced Placement Program, AP, and the acorn logo are registered trademarks of the College Entrance Examination Board.

1999

The College Board
Advanced Placement Examination

GOVERNMENT & POLITICS:
COMPARATIVE

Question 1

The relationship between the Prime Minister of Great Britain and the British House of Commons is both similar to and different from the relationship between the Prime Minister of France and the French National Assembly. Identify and discuss two ways in which the relationships are similar and two ways in which the relationships are different.

Question 2

Ethnic conflict can be a problem for a political system. Discuss how the government of either India or Mexico or Nigeria has dealt with ethnic conflict and how the post-1991 Russian government has dealt with ethnic conflict.

In your discussion, do each of the following.

- a. Describe one example of ethnic conflict in each country.
- b. Identify one principal method used by India or Mexico or Nigeria and one principal method used by post-1991 Russia to resolve ethnic conflict.
- c. Assess the impact of each government's response to ethnic conflict on political stability within the country.

Question 3

The graph below illustrates forms of industrial ownership in China.

- Identify two patterns shown in the graph above.
- Describe one reform that has contributed to one pattern you identified and explain how it has contributed to the pattern.
- Describe one reform that has contributed to the other pattern you identified and explain how it has contributed to the pattern.
- Discuss one political consequence of one pattern you identified.

Question 4

Political legitimacy is an important dimension in governing. Identify three factors that contribute to the political legitimacy of a government. For the three factors you identified, discuss how each contributes to a government's legitimacy AND discuss how each has or has not contributed to the political legitimacy of the government of India or Mexico or Nigeria.