

CLEP®

Save time and money while earning your business degree

CLEP Business Exams

These five CLEP exams cover business fundamentals. If you're taking business courses or pursuing a business degree, earning qualifying scores can help you place into the right classes so you can avoid repeating material and move into more advanced classes sooner.

1. Financial Accounting

Covers general topics, income statements, balance sheets and statements of cash flow.

2. Principles of Management

Covers organization and human resources, the operational and functional aspects of management, international management and contemporary issues.

3. Principles of Marketing

Covers the role of marketing in society and in a firm; target marketing; and the marketing mix.

CLEP offers additional exams that can help you satisfy prerequisites for some business courses:

- Principles of Macroeconomics
- Principles of Microeconomics
- College Mathematics
- Precalculus
- Calculus

4. Introductory Business Law

Covers the history and sources of American law, constitutional law, the American legal system and procedures, contracts, the legal environment and torts — all from a business perspective.

5. Information Systems and Computer Applications

Covers information systems and office application software in organizations; hardware and systems technology; information systems software development; programming concepts; data management; and business, ethical, and social implications and issues.

Get Started:

Visit www.collegeboard.com/clep.

Step one:

Find out your college's CLEP policy by contacting your professor, academic adviser, test center or admission office.

Step two:

Read descriptions of all 33 exams and decide which exam(s) to take.

Step three:

Register to take your exam(s) by contacting a CLEP test center on your campus, or nearby, and making an appointment. For a list of CLEP test centers, visit www.collegeboard.com/cleptestcenters.

Step four:

Start studying. Get official preparation materials and study tips online.

Step five:

Take your CLEP exam!

What Is CLEP?

The knowledge you've gained from your education or professional experiences can take you further than you think. CLEP offers you the opportunity to earn college credit by earning qualifying scores on any of 33 CLEP examinations. The exams are administered at 1,700 colleges, and 2,900 colleges and universities will grant credit for successful scores.

Who Should Know About CLEP Business Exams?

High-achieving business students

Use CLEP to help you save time and money while you're earning your business degree.

College faculty and advisers

Help your students move ahead in their education and in their business majors.

High school business teachers and counselors

Tell academically qualified business students and their parents about CLEP exams.