

Advancing the Work of Community Colleges

ABOUT THE COLLEGE BOARD

The College Board is a mission-driven not-for-profit organization that connects students to college opportunity and success.

The organization also serves the education community through research and advocacy on behalf of students, educators, and schools.

The College Board provides a unique opportunity for community colleges to build stronger relationships with K–12 schools and four-year colleges and universities. We are member-driven and one of the few not-for-profit national organizations that brings a cross-sector approach in the service of our nation’s students. Through our assemblies and councils, educators from high schools, colleges, and universities gather to share, align, and collaborate.

To learn how you can become more involved in the College Board’s professional network, visit collegeboard.org/communitycolleges.

Founded in 1900, the College Board was created to expand access to higher education.

Today the membership association is made up of over 6,000 of the world’s leading education institutions and is dedicated to promoting excellence and equity in education.

Each year, the College Board helps more than 7 million students prepare for a successful transition to college through programs and services in college readiness and college success — including the SAT[®] and the Advanced Placement Program[®].

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT:

Katherine Hughes

Executive Director
Community College and Higher Education Initiatives

khughes@collegeboard.org

202-741-4726

HOW WE SERVE COMMUNITY COLLEGES

In recognition of the important role of community colleges, the College Board has developed programs and services specifically designed to assist community college professionals. Resources are available at collegeboard.org/communitycolleges, and our efforts include:

- Online resources that guide students toward their education and career goals, and resources for educators to help. bigfuture.collegeboard.org/get-started/educator-resource-center
- Advocacy and education policy initiatives that help to advance the unique mission of higher education and community colleges. collegeboard.org/communitycolleges
- Access to Opportunity™ (A2O), a program designed to propel low-income, first-generation, and underrepresented students into the opportunities they have earned. collegeboard.org/opportunity
- Research on contemporary issues critical to higher education and community colleges ranging from admission to validity. research.collegeboard.org
- Assessments that help students, counselors, and institutions pinpoint academic strengths and validate prior knowledge. professionals.collegeboard.com/testing accuplacer.collegeboard.org/professionals
clep.collegeboard.org
- Annual conferences such as the College Board Forum that help members understand innovative programs that increase access, promote student success, and foster discussion of best practices. collegeboard.org/forum
- Diversity conferences specifically designed to help educators increase the preparation, access, and college completion of Latino, African American, and Native American students. collegeboard.org/diversityconf
- Professional development activities that allow educators to engage in meaningful dialogue about the central education issues of our day. professionals.collegeboard.com/prof-dev

The College Board is committed to addressing the needs of community colleges and to building relationships that serve you, your students, and your colleagues.