UNIT 1

Planning the Unit

Context
The twenty-first-century classroom and workplace are settings in which people from different cultures mix and work together. Unit 1 guides students' explorations of culture and its components—nationality, family, ethnicity, gender, race, and subgroups—examining how these components shape their perceptions of themselves and the world around them. As students seek to understand their own culture and the cultures of others, they are able to evaluate different perspectives and adjust their own thinking by learning from others. Students will also explore the concept of cultural identity and diverse cultural perspectives by examining a variety of texts that range from personal reflections to short stories and art, by studying a wide range of texts representing a variety of cultural perspectives, students make connections to their own lives to better understand the interrelationships among multiple cultures.

Suggested Texts and Materials
You will need the following materials for this unit:
• Activity 1.2—photographs of images with symbolic/cultural associations
• Activity 1.6—Frida Kahlo, Self-Portrait on the Borderline Between Mexico and the United States, 1932
• Activity 1.11—photograph of a quilt or an actual quilt

Instructional Sequence
The unit begins with activities that guide students to think of culture as a prism through which they view themselves and are viewed by others. Students then apply their understanding to a variety of texts in a range of genres (informational text, personal essay, novel excerpt, art, poetry, and short story) the perspective. Study in Embedded Assessment 1 assignment to understand the task ahead. They will explore the components of culture that contribute to cultural identity and participate in collaborative discussions in which they are expected to respond thoughtfully to others and communicate insightfully about their own cultural identity. This discussion also introduces students to the concepts that will inform and organize the work of the entire 10th grade year.

AP/College Readiness
In this unit, students will focus on refining these important skills and knowledge areas for AP/College Readiness:
• Analyzing short selections that provide meaningful examples of linguistic grace and style—voice, syntax, tone, and structure (Activities 1.5, 1.6, 1.11, 1.12)
• Writing a response in an academic voice that uses relevant and sufficient textual evidence to support analysis (Activities 1.5, 1.10, 1.13, 1.14)
• Using AP strategies to analyze and evaluate style and writer's craft (Activities 1.6, 1.8, 1.11, 1.12)
• Synthesizing and evaluating information from a variety of short nonfiction pieces (Activities 1.3, 1.13, 1.14)
• Deconstructing and responding to a synthesis prompt like those used in the AP Language and Composition examination (Activities 1.9, 1.10, 1.15, 1.16)

Instructional Activities and Pacing

Total: 27 Class Periods	Description
1.1–1.3 4 class periods	Students begin the unit by unpacking the Embedded Assessment 1 assignment to understand the task ahead. They will explore the components of culture that contribute to cultural identity and participate in collaborative discussions in which they are expected to respond thoughtfully to others and communicate insightfully about their own cultural identity. This discussion also introduces students to the concepts that will inform and organize the work of the entire 10th grade year.
1.4 1 class period	Language and Writer's Craft lessons appear in every unit, providing students with the opportunity to apply knowledge of language so that they can make effective choices for meaning or style in their writing and speech. The first Language and Writer's Craft activity asks students to examine various types of phrases and apply this new learning to their own writing in order to add variety, precision, and interest in writing.
1.5–1.6 4 class periods	Students continue to examine cultural identity as presented in multiple literary genres and analyze the stylistic techniques of literary selections so they might use them in their own writing. Through close reading, students conduct a comparative analysis of texts in order to have deeper discussions regarding conflict and cultural identity.
1.7–1.8 3 class periods	As students near the Embedded Assessment, they are asked to focus more specifically on language and detail to reveal the complex ideas associated with cultural identity. As a support, they will examine a mentor text as a model of the ideas, structure, and use of language expected in the Embedded Assessment.

11 When some research and note taking is complete, guide students to evaluate their reasoning and evidence using the guiding questions provided. This will determine if more research is needed.

Differentiating Instruction

To extend this activity, you may want some students to conduct research independently and then share their findings with the class.

Differentiating Instruction

offers suggestions to support and extend learning.

LEARNING STRATEGIES:
Think-Pair-Share, Marking the Text, Word Maps, Discussion Groups

Learning Targets

- Analyze choices and consequences presented in a text.
- Analyze and compare diction choices in two different texts on the same topic.

Before Reading

1. In the poem you will be reading, the narrator comes to a "fork in the road." Is an example of figurative, not literal, language, as the phrase does not mean an actual fork in a driving lane. How would you describe a "fork in the road?"

A "fork in the road" physically means a Y-shaped intersection. Figuratively, it can mean a point in life where there is a choice to make; something that causes a person to make a decision.

During Reading

4. Mark the text by highlighting or underlining unfamiliar words. Marking text helps you engage in close reading and organize your textual evidence after reading. During your second reading, paraphrase each stanza. It is important to examine both denotation and connotation of unfamiliar words as part of close reading.

After Reading

5. Use the graphic organizer to compare and contrast the two poems.

COMMON CORE STATE STANDARDS

Focus Standards:
RI.9-10.2: Determine a central idea of a text and analyze its development over the course of the text, including how it emerges and is shaped and refined by specific details; provide an objective summary.

W.9-10.4: Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

KEY IDEAS AND DETAILS
Explain the difference between "cultural heritage" and "cultural inheritance."

Additional Standards Addressed:
RI.9-10.1; RI.9-10.3; RI.9-10.5; RI.9-10.10; W.9-10.2a; W.9-10.2b; W.9-10.10; SL.9-10.1a; SL.9-10.1c

ACTIVITY 1.1

PLAN

Materials: sticky notes; chart paper; red, yellow, and green markers, crayons, or colored pencils
Suggested pacing: 150-minute class (with Unit Overview and Contexts)

TEACH

- Review the learning targets and help students make connections to the content.
- Direct students to write a response to the Essential Questions before discussing them in a think-pair-share. Students will revisit these questions throughout the unit to develop a more mature understanding of these ideas.
- With students, read the Unit Guide on the Contents page. Also preview vocabulary on this page. Ask students to mark the text with "I," "Is," and "Is for" questions, interesting selections and important parts of the unit.
- Direct students to create sticky notes on notebook paper.
- Lead students through a close reading of the prompt, steps, and Scoring Guide criteria. In each step, identify the skills and knowledge necessary for successful completion of that step. Direct students to write the concept or skill on a sticky note and place it on their individual sticky notes in the light appropriate to their understanding (red, yellow, or green).

ASSESS

Monitor the students' placement of the skills and knowledge on their own sticky notes to informally assess their understanding of the topic and task.

ADAPT

Add information as needed to help students understand the task for the Embedded Assessment.

A Note About Independent Reading: As the preview lesson to the unit, this is an appropriate activity in which to introduce students to their independent reading. See the Unit 1 Planning the Unit for suggested titles/themes.

Plan-Teach-

Assess-Adapt

provides a flexible road map for teachers that includes suggestions, strategies, and opportunities for assessment and differentiation.

Assessment Drives Instruction

Each Instructional Unit is built around a performance-based Embedded Assessment.

Assignments align to the rigorous tasks typical of common assessments and national exams.

Scoring Guides align to standards and set clear expectations for performance.

Formative Assessments, including “Check Your Understanding” and Writing Prompts, measure students’ progress against Learning Targets.

Planning/Prewriting: Take time to make a plan for your essay.

- How will you generate ideas about aspects of your culture that might help convey your sense of identity?
- How does your sense of cultural identity compare to that of your parents, your peers, or even strangers?
- How can a cultural conflict—either internal or external—clarify how your cultural identity influences your perspective?
- How might you use a particular cultural element (food, language, clothing, etc.) as a metaphor or central idea to focus your essay?
- What will you include in a preliminary outline of an organizational structure?

My Notes

Check Your Understanding
Expository Writing Prompt: Using information from one of your searches, write a paragraph summarizing the information you found about marketing to young people. Be sure to:

- Introduce your topic clearly.
- Use details and examples that relate to the topic.
